

Cold Wax and Oil Paint Workshop

Cold wax is an unique, versatile medium easily incorporated into many styles and other with mediums. It lends itself to mark making and textures, allowing for building up depth and transparencies.

This introductory course will cover the basics of using cold wax while exploring many applications and experimentations. We'll learn about basic tools, materials and techniques. You'll learn to let go and be more expressive in your painting.

Supply List

3 colors of oil paint in your choice, at least one must be a transparent color

Titanium White oil paint

Bowl scraper. Amazon sells a Messermeister bowlscraper and one made by zoie&chloe

Soft rubber brayer if you have one (I will bring 2 that can be shared)

Stiff, old brushes if you want to try using a brush

Palette knife

Large palette (if you don't have a large one I will bring some disposable palettes)

Tools for scraping and mark making. Use your imagination with items from your house. A wooden bamboo skewer, bubble wrap, tissue paper, anything that will make interesting marks. I will bring many of my favorite tools to share

A 16x20 piece of plywood, MDF or cradled panel (must be gessoed) or a canvas board

I will provide the cold wax, disposable paper palettes, paper towels, tape, Gamsol for clean up and many of my own marking tools. I will also bring nitrile gloves for anyone that wants to use them.

Bring a sack lunch

Sunday, May 5 at Perspective Gallery

10:00am to 2:00pm

$95

To register, call or email Kathy Parker at 970-371-3363, kathylparker@comcast.net

Checks made out to Kathryn Parker can be mailed to 1289 Mathis Ferry Rd, Mt. Pleasant SC 29464

*An easel is not needed. We will be working on a table surface.